

UPM ProFi Deck from 2011 STILL LOOKING FRESH

Rugby stadium of the LOU club, Lyon-Vénissieux, France

- The deck was built in 2011, during the construction of the Matmut Stadium, the temporary home of the rugby club of Lyon, the LOU.
- UPM ProFi Deck was installed in an area of 350 m² next to the cafeteria and ticketing area at the Eastern entrance of the stadium
- UPM ProFi Deck has endured looking fresh since 2011, in spite of heavy trampling and food soiling
 - Record attendance: 11 805 persons in November
- Shade: Autumn Brown

Built in less than 100 days, the Matmut Stadium was commissioned in November 2011. Its capacity has been increased in 2014 to host 12 000 spectators instead of 8 000, and the cafeteria has been covered with an awning. Designed as a temporary structure in the expectation of the LOU club transfer to the new Gerland Stadium, the Matmut Stadium will be from now on dedicated to rugby trainings.
